

URGE PASSAGE OF EUGENIC LAWS

Both Man and Woman
Should Prove Fitness
for Ceremony

NO DOUBLE STANDARD

Require Ten Days Public Notice
Before Issuing Permit
to Get Married

NEW YORK, May 31.—Coincident with the action of the legislature of Wisconsin in passing a bill making it mandatory for every male resident of the state about to be married to obtain a certificate that he is physically fit and free from disease, is the announcement that plans are being made to present a similar bill to the next session of the legislature in this state.

Miss Rose Rothberg, assistant district attorney of Judge Swann's court, is winning the support of women's and medical associations of New York to back such a measure. When the legislature convenes next January, the first woman prosecutor of New York county is confident that she will have enlisted sufficient support to guarantee the passage of the bill.

For Both Women and Men.
The law that Miss Rothberg hopes to place on the statute books of this state will, even as further than the one just passed in the west, require both parties to the marriage to be physically fit.

She believes implicitly in the old adage, "Sound mind, sound body," and she believes that the state should require both parties to the marriage to be physically fit.

There is just as much reason for requiring one of my own sex to submit to a physical examination as there is for the man," declared Miss Rothberg. "Men are not always as honest as women in the matter of physical fitness. In the case of a man, a night's rest has passed, and the morning court tests by the health department showed that fully 75 per cent of the women assigned were afflicted."

I believe that the state should require the appointment of reputable physicians in every city and county as examiners of candidates for the marriage license. Ten days before the contemplated marriage both parties should be required to submit to a physical examination. If the man is found to be physically fit, he should be issued a certificate from the examining physician, which should be filed with the marriage license clerk before the license is issued.

Conting Generations to Benefit.
Such a law, in my opinion, and that of many other women to whom I have spoken, will prevent many unwelcome marriages. Not alone will it do that, but it will guarantee to the coming generations the birthright which, countless thousands of children have been deprived of under our present system."

JOYCE IN ANSWER ATTACKS PEGGY

Used a secret "love code" to correspond with several male friends, while they were in their honeymoon.

He alleged that Peggy first met French, one of the correspondents named in the "Joyce" book, at Hot Springs, Va., where Peggy was staying at a hotel. Joyce charged that French met Peggy in the hotel dining room making an engagement by telephoning her.

During her stay in Europe, Peggy was from time to time arranged with her various paramours to have letters, telegrams, cablegrams, intended for her addressed to her secretary and to her maid servant, Joyce charged.

Joyce declared Peggy's romance with French was disrupted in July 1919 when French's mother threatened to disinherit him if he did not give his attention to the stage star.

The lumber king named a new floor in his marital tangle, whom he said replaced French in Peggy's affections. This was the Duke de Jural. "She lunched with said Duke at an apartment," Joyce charged.

Joyce asserted that Peggy's romance with the prince became so well known that it was publicly mentioned in the press on one occasion.

Of her recent affairs, Joyce charged Peggy with appearing on the streets of New York "intoxicated and in the company of one Joe Paul, a restaurant keeper."

This he said, happened in January, 1920.

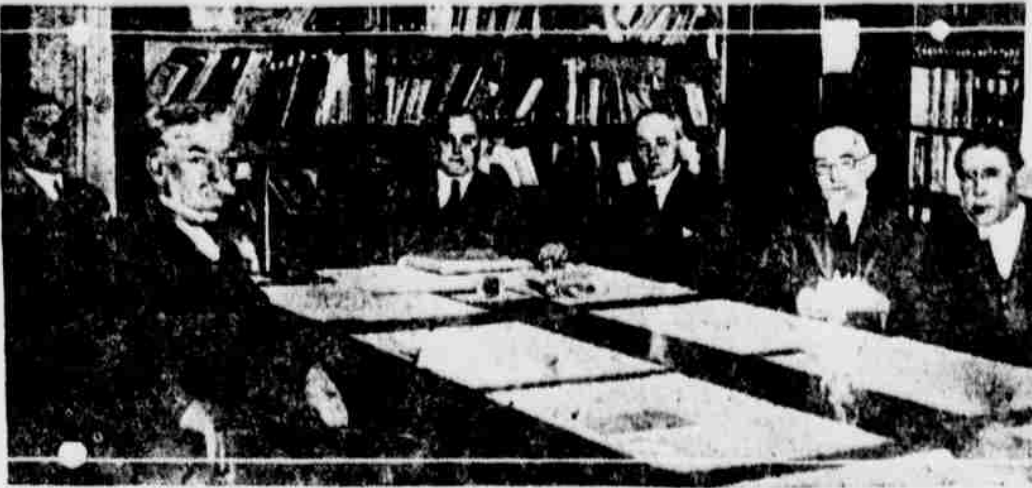

While dining with Paul, "Joyce alleged, and while in an intoxicated condition," she sat on his lap and embraced him."

Of the army lieutenant whom Joyce charged Peggy drove to suicide, the lumber king withholds his name "out of respect for his memory."

The present year marks the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of the New York chapter of commerce.

HERRICK ASSAILS PACKING FIRMS

Laughter and Applause
Greet Speeches of Oklahoma
Representative

By BARCLAY A. TIMMONS

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Representative

Manuel Herrick of Oklahoma

today, making three speeches on the packing control bill.

Herrick talked all the members of the committee and his members of speech in front of a generous crowd

of laughter and applause.

One paragraph of the bill provides for certain penalties for packers who

"knowingly" violate its provisions.

Herrick moved to strike and the word "knowingly," saying that heretofore the packers have been told that the law was not to be violated and that the attorneys could now save their money by telling the law was not to be violated. He then asked if the gentleman knew that the bill would affect a small packing concern in his own state of Oklahoma. "Yes," answered Herrick,

and I know they have a lot of little local lawyers down there too."

On another occasion Herrick offered an amendment which would enable cattle raisers to know how much they were receiving for each

lot of stock shipped to market. "I run a little ranch," said Herrick,

and when I ship a carload of cattle

More Than "Just a Bank"---

The officers and directors of the First National Bank want it to be more than just a bank. They want it to be a pleasant, friendly banking home, where you enjoy coming and where it is a pleasure to transact business. When you enter the lobby they want you to feel at home, among friends, free to make full use of every banking facility.

If there is anything about banking that you do not understand, or if you seek some unusual service or information you are invited to consult our Business Extension Department, at the left of the main entrance; or ask our lobby man, who is stationed in the lobby throughout the day. We would appreciate an opportunity to prove to you that the First National is more than "just a bank."
